

BECOME PART OF OUR TEAM!

 KnowledgeAgent

KnowledgeAgent is a leading company in the area of Strategic Research & Analysis with global activities.

As a team, we support organizations with customized knowledge, expertise and technology. We research, structure and analyze information to enable our customers to operate successfully in the market. These customers include leading international strategy consultancies and global enterprises from a wide range of industries.

A well-coordinated and qualified team is the key to our long-term success. We offer our employees long-term perspectives and individual development opportunities.

To expand our team, we are looking for you to join us as

Research Analyst (m/f/d) - Sustainability, Market and Competition

at one of our locations in Mannheim or Bad Dürkheim with the possibility for remote work.

You have a strong interest in sustainability issues and the latest technologies, and you want to help companies around the world to master environmental and economic challenges? Then become part of our team.

As part of our analyst team, you support our customers in researching sustainability data related to a wide range of topics. You will provide valuable information, which serves as a basis for their decision-making regarding the implementation of strategic directions.

Your tasks

- As part of our analyst team, you deliver best-in-class results for research requests related to a wide range of business and science topics and current trends. You support project teams, specialists and managers of our international customers in answering strategic questions.
- You provide information and analysis on market, competition, product and technologies and deal with the latest aspects of ongoing issues, such as sustainability, energy transition and decarbonization. Your strategic research is focused on one or several industry sectors.

- You generate insights mainly based on professional databases and internet research, company publications, official statistics and expert interviews, using a broad range of research strategies.
- You prepare market-relevant data in a structured and professional manner and provide our customers with information tailored to their needs.

Your profile

- Degree in economics, information sciences, sustainability management or related subject
- Ability to understand business and economic relations
- Advanced analytical and conceptual skills
- Quick comprehension and ability to meet stringent quality standards
- Confident handling of MS Office programs
- Fluency in written and spoken German and English

You are a perfect match for us, if you are a smart, committed and enthusiastic person, who is ready to take on new challenges every day and has an analytical mindset.

What we offer

It is essential to us to create a working environment, in which our employees feel comfortable and can grow professionally and personally.

On top of exciting individual development and training opportunities, you can expect numerous other benefits, such as:

- A secure job with development prospects in a continuously growing company
- Hybrid working
- Attractive offices with modern and ergonomic IT and work equipment
- Mentoring and open feedback culture
- A great working environment in a cooperative and open-minded team
- After work activities and team events

Your contact

We are looking forward to receiving your application, including your salary expectations, possible start date and preferred location. | Stéphanie Weber – jobs@knowledgeagent.com